Peru and Mexico took part in the first game of the final day of competition. This game decided 7-8 positions. Peru and Mexico exchanged goals during the first quarter, Mexico from penalty and extra man goals, while Peru's goals came from penalties and shots from the perimeter. This quarter ended with a 3-3 tie, one that would not last long. The second quarter saw Mexico jump all over Peru at both ends of the pool. They were able to score the first five goals of the quarter and placed a lot of defensive pressure on their opponent, one that Peru wasn't able to decipher. By the end of the quarter, Mexico had a 5 goals lead, one that they never relinquished. After halftime, Mexico just kept the pressure on Peru, not allowing them to mount a consistent offensive attack. At the same time they were very patient with their offense and were able to score on every mistake that Peru made. For the fourth quarter, Mexico relaxed their defense and Villa (#10) from Peru took over the game, scoring three goals within a three minute span. Mexico was able to regroup and take control of the game, closing it by scoring two goals of their own. Villar (#10) for Peru was the game's leading scorer with 7 goals. Morales (#7) led Mexico with 5 goals

The second game of this session was between Colombia and Argentina. The winner of the game would earn the final UANA spot at the 2017 Youth World Championship. From the onset of the game, everybody could see that Colombia was all business and that they wouldn't be denied the opportunity to earn a trip to Worlds. Both teams traded goals for the first quarter, working hard to maintain their own scheme of play that has characterized them through the tournament. It was during the second quarter that Colombia took control of the game. Turnovers by Argentina were key to their undoing. They forced the ball to the post but Colombia closed the middle effectively. When they had the chance, Argentina couldn't score from extra man or perimeter shots. This allowed Colombia to take a 8-6 lead in the first half. Colombia went on a tear at the beginning of the second half, scoring three goals in less than 3 minutes. This onslaught was too much for Argentina, whose game came unglued at both ends. They were able to recover in the fourth quarter, coming back from a 5 goal deficit to close the gap to one goal with 36 seconds left. Colombia was able to keep the ball away from their opponent and getting the win. Orozco (#8) led Colombia and the game with 4 goals. Argentina had three players with three goals.

In the bronze medal game between Canada and Rico, the team from north of the border came out on top 14-10 in a very physical but exciting game. Canada just exploded in the first quarter, scoring well from the perimeter and extra man. Puerto Rico worked the ball hard trying to free up their holeman but Canada was ready for it and didn't allow any easy shots for the team from the Caribbean. Puerto Rico made the necessary adjustments on defense and started playing more fluid offense. They were able to score from all angles of the pool. Canada just kept pounding the ball inside, using their physical prowess to their advantage. The half ended with Canada ahead 8-5. Third quarter was slower for both teams. Neither team was able to score on extra man opportunities nor counter attacks were not seen. Both were playing very tight defense and taking care of the ball. Going into the fourth quarter, Canada held an 11-7 lead, one that they would never relinquished. Puerto Rico just kept pounding the ball inside but Canada just clogged the middle or worked hard to gain position, not allowing easy goals for Puerto Rico. Poliseno (#4) led all scorers with 5 goals. Loubriel (#10) led Puerto Rico with three goals. With the win, Canada earned the bronze medal for the male category

Always leave the best for last. This last game was the most exciting of the tournament. Brazil and USA played their hearts out for 28 minutes, with Brazil coming on top by the slightest margin 11-10. USA just couldn't hold the lead they built during the first half. This half was all offense for both teams. They both pounded the ball inside trying to either score from center post or get ejections for extra man. It was a hard fought quarter with very few ejections. Both teams just exchanged goals during the quarter, which ended in a 4-4 tie. The second quarter had USA attacking from the perimeter, which was helpful in getting some ejection calls in their favor and scoring on every opportunity. USA was behind 6-5 with four minutes left, but was able to recover their composure and score three goals to take an 8-6 lead at halftime. Brazil came out strong in the third quarter, stopping USA's momentum and gaining a one goal advantage in the third quarter. That emotional fourth quarter saw two teams go head to head, fighting for every opportunity to score. The game was decided by Silva (#3) who scored a goal from two meters. With the win Brazil wins the gold medal for the third consecutive time. USA gets the silver medal for the third time
