The discipline of athletic training provides such lifelong skills as learning teamwork, following the leadership of coaches and captains, goal setting and time management.

Research has found that in addition to improved physical health, sport plays a primarily positive role in development of the five “C’s”—competence, confidence, connections, character, and caring.

The Prince George Barracuda Swim Club encourages its participants to continue to pursue a lifestyle of excellence. This award recognizes the student’s participation in the Prince George Barracuda Swim Club in addition to other community and/or school involvement.

This scholarship is provided to a student who is entering post-secondary education; the successful applicant may or may not plan to continue to swim competitively. The award will recognize a student who demonstrates academic excellence and community involvement / leadership in their high school and community, either through extracurricular activities, volunteerism, or other commitments.

Criteria for application includes:

Academic excellence

Barracuda attendance & team participation

Community & /or school involvement

Integrity / Attitude

Leadership

Sportsmanship

Applications are to be submitted online c/o the PGBSC Executive Assistant.
