

Subscribing to the AMS Officials Blog

The AMS Officials Blog is our primary means of communication. It is important for each AMS Official to “subscribe” to the Blog (amsofficials.blogspot.com) so that you are automatically sent notification of new blog posts.

This is a two-step process. First, go to the blog and enter your email address of choice in the field just below the header of the blog home page. Click submit. You will receive a verification email from “feedburner” asking you to verify that you had subscribed your email address. You must verify to complete the process.

It’s that simple. Don’t be left out of all the news! Subscribe today!
