"It is an honor to have five Greendale swimmers recognized on the Scholastic All-American Team for this season," said Head Coach Conor Stone. "We as coaches have made it very clear our expectations in regards to both performance in the classroom and in the pool. We are blessed with the resources they provide to back their expectations. Now it is time to deliver results in the pool and with the State Championships right around the corner, we are on track."

This is the first time in the Greendale Sharks history that members have been chosen for USA Swimming's Scholastic All-American Team. Out of the 17 teams in the state on the Sharks posted the highest cumulative GPA.

Painter will continue his academic and swimming success at Princeton University. The senior was recruited to Princeton's swim team on an athletic scholarship after placing in the top 10 at Winter Junior Nationals in the men's 100- and 200-meter backstroke, but will also receive scholarship money for his academic achievements. Painter will start his freshman year this coming fall.
