Notes on Positive check in: Positive check in is used to run more efficient and effective meets. By ensuring that swimmers check in during warm up, the meet can be seeded, eliminating those swimmers who "no-show". This benefits the swimmers by increasing competition and eliminating empty lanes. It also saves time and energy for officials, coaches, volunteers, swimmers, and parents, as meets run smoother and eliminate wasted time. The purpose of positive check in is to ensure that swimmers are present and intend to swim their events. Coaches should not check in swimmers, unless unforeseen circumstances prevent the swimmer from being on time and the coach has received confirmation that the swimmer will be present.
