

Sunkist Swim Team: Training Groups

Sunkist Swim Team trains in groups structured to ensure that swimmers make optimal use of their time swimming and training with their peers—both in terms of age and ability. Under the direction of the head coach, the staff decides group placement based on what is best for a swimmer’s continued development within the structure and goals of the team.

Coaches move swimmers from group to group as needed throughout the season. They may also make adjustments to groups (adding groups, practice times, etc) to meet the needs of the team. Time spent in a group varies from swimmer to swimmer. The focus of every group is to challenge and develop each individual, helping them to realize their full potential both in and out of the water.

Keep in mind, groups provide structure and order to training sessions and are not meant to be viewed solely as a benchmark on progress or skill. Groups also help to define what is expected of each swimmer at various levels of development.

In general, the criteria for advancing in groups involves three core considerations:

First, is performance. This involves assessing the swimmer’s racing performances and technical skills. Coaches track times and time improvements from meet-to-meet, measuring against the time standards set forth by USA Swimming.

Second, is training. Coaches monitor how swimmers perform in workouts and make sure each swimmer is able to meet the training demands of their group on a day-to-day basis, in terms of yardage, intensity, pace and the making of interval sets.

Third, is overall commitment. This involves the level of healthy engagement a swimmer has with the sport, with competitors and with the team. Important considerations are a positive attitude, sportsmanship, a commitment to attending meets, regularly attending practices, focus in workouts, caring about nutrition, proper hydration and following direction. Coaches also gauge the individual desire of a swimmer to participate and improve in the sport of swimming without any undue pressure from a parent.

While the coaching staff looks at all three of these key components when considering moves, there will be times when it is simply in the best interest of the team to make a move based on only one or two of these elements and/or other factors. Ultimately, it is up to a coach to decide when a swimmer is ready to advance or needs more work.

SUNFISH GROUP

This group is for beginning swimmers 7 years old or younger who have advanced beyond lessons and desire to experience competitive swimming.

Sunfish is our developmental, pre-competitive group that teaches young children how to swim and transitions swimmers from lessons to competitive swimming. Sunfish swimmers learn the building blocks of swimming and the fundamentals to competitive swimming.

Our teachers aim to instill a passion for the sport of swimming in all of our Sunfish and a readiness to handle the rigors of lap swimming in the big pool. This group is designed to prepare young swimmers for training in the Orange Group with skills acquisition and water safety key to advancement.

Sunfish: Skills Progression & Advancement Goals

Sunfish swimmers are grouped into pods by ability with no more than 5 swimmers per teacher. The composition and skill level of each pod is entirely dependent on the current roster of swimmers. Progressions may over-lap and advancement can vary between Sunfish pods. There is no required time table for advancement, swimmers are tested before advancing to Orange Group and some may progress faster than others as often is the case with novice swimmers.

Sunfish swimmers progress through 6 levels each with specific advancement goals. Progress in all pods is measured by refining technique of acquired skills and not speed in the water.

To graduate, Sunfish swimmers must be able to demonstrate competence of progression advancement skills and drills, must be able to swim 25 yards freestyle with correct rotary breathing and 25 yards backstroke without turning over onto stomach.

Due to the popularity of our Sunfish Program, roster space is extremely limited and the group may be closed to new swimmers. When Sunfish rosters are completely filled, a wait list is kept upon request for swimmers next in line who wish to be notified when a roster slot becomes available.
