

Kansas City Blazers

T 913.826.3034

george.adcock@jocogov.org

KCBlazers.com

March 23, 2020

Blazer Families:

Welcome back from Spring Break. This is definitely not what we expected the spring to look like.

The coaches are in full swing compiling resources to keep our athletes both physically and mentally engaged as we manage our new norm. USA swimming current liability insurance restricts what we can do with our athletes. We cannot provide coaching as we are not directly supervising our work. At this stage we can offer suggestions, ideas and resources for our athletes to use. Give them ideas and samples of schedules to keep them in the best possible shape given the circumstances. This could be a great opportunity for families to engage together in ways to stay healthy and active in these trying times.

Look for more specific details from each of the group coaches as to options for your swimmers. We are also aware that swimming is not just a physical endeavor, but a social one. Therefore, we are examining ways to keep our athletes engaged with each other and their coaches whilst still remaining USA Swimming Safe Sport compliant.

Thank you to the Santa Fe Trail Blazers Board and its members (all of you) for their financial support of our team and its coaches during this pandemic. The Board decided to waive all training fees for the month of April. However, please still check your statements as there may be outstanding meet fees from MVS Champs that are due.

This is where we stand at the moment, but as you have all seen things are changing on a daily basis. We will continue to operate under best practices and within the guidelines of our governing bodies and entities. If and when things change we will look to offer more where possible.

Stay Safe and Healthy,

George Adcock, Head Coach
Kansas City Blazers